

10th QCDNA

Email from Paulo Silva:

I am aware that since 2012 there has been a temporal and spatial “coupling” with the Lattice conference, but we are willing to organize it in Coimbra in 2018.

Furthermore, every and then the QCDNA community discusses the possibility of having QCDNA every year. If there is any decision on a change of the QCDNA periodicity, and since next year the Lattice conference will be in Granada, Coimbra would be a nice location for the meeting.

Therefore let us know if there is any discussion/decision about the location and time frame of the next QCDNA.
