

- Black holes have an entropy and a temperature,  $T_H = \hbar c^3 / (8\pi G M k_B)$ .
- The entropy is proportional to their surface area.
- They relax to thermal equilibrium in a Planckian time  $\sim \hbar / (k_B T_H)$ .